2022 Biodiesel Marketer of the Year Awarded to Casey's

FUEllowa applauds the company for its work in marketing renewable fuels.

Urbandale, IA – FUEllowa, the voice and resource of Iowa's retail fuel industry, applauds convenience store chain Casey's for receiving the 2022 Biodiesel Marketer of the Year Award from the Iowa Department of Agriculture. Casey's—also known as Casey's General Stores, Inc.—was presented with the award on January 11, 2022, at FUEllowa's 2022 Annual Meeting in Des Moines by Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig.

Nominated by FUEllowa because of the company's investment in the sale and marketing of biodiesel, Casey's is a longtime supporter of renewable fuels, offering homegrown biodiesel blends and B11 throughout the company's 1,000+ stores located in the Midwest and South. Moreover, Casey's continues to pursue higher biodiesel blends and is transitioning its fleet vehicles in Iowa to run on B5.

"Renewable fuels create additional markets for agricultural products and jobs in rural communities. Consumers benefit from cleaner-burning fuels and more choices at the pump," stated Iowa Secretary of Agriculture Mike Naig. "I'm pleased to present the renewable fuels marketing awards to DANLEE Corp and Casey's General Stores for their efforts to increase access to and demand for ethanol and biodiesel."

The Iowa Department of Agriculture's Biodiesel Marketer of the Year Award recognizes fuel retailers who have gone above and beyond in their marketing efforts to sell renewable fuels, including ethanol and biodiesel. Iowa was recently ranked the number one state in the nation for the production of ethanol and biodiesel. Headquartered in Ankeny, Iowa, Casey's has long been a staple in Iowa's rural communities.

"FUEllowa would like to congratulate Casey's for being an outstanding marketer of biodiesel," stated Ronald N. Langston, FUEllowa President and CEO.

"Casey's has not only promoted biodiesel at their locations but has expanded the choices available to consumers. This award is greatly deserved."

FUEllowa extends heartfelt congratulations to Casey's. The association is proud of the company's work, which supports the growth of renewable fuels as well as the Iowans, who grow and produce feedstocks used to make biodiesel.
